he was employed with the Morgan

Fell Forty Feet

GADSDEN, Ala., July 24.—J. Roy Foster, of Albany, Ala., an employe of the Dixie Construction Company, met instant death here yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock when he was knocked from a pole on Locust Street by coming in contact with a highly charged wire which carried 2-200 volts of electricity. Whether the unfortunate man was killed by the fall or by the electric shock has not been determined. All efforts at resuscitation failed; death apparently being instantaneous.At the time of the accident, Mr.
Foster was near the top of a forty foot pole attempting to splice two wires. With his pliers in his mouth and a wire in either hand, he climbed one step higher and his forehead came in contact with a live wire. He tumbled to the street below without uttering a word and was dead when picked up.ADDISON WHITE IS

BY SOLICITOR ALMON TO SUCCEED BETTSAddison White is new county solicitor of Madison, having been appointed by Solicitor D. C. Almon to succeed Ed C. Betts, resigned. Judge Kyle and Solicitor Almon are highly complimented on the manner in which they performed their duties in the following dispatch from the Huntsville Daily Times:To the credit of Judge Kyle, he disposed of business with surprising dispatch and won many new laurels during the few days of the court's session here. An unusual record was the trial and disposition of two capital cases in as many days, these being the conviction of Luke Tucker, for criminal assault and the acquittal of J. C. Crique charged with murder.Conspicuous in the trial of cases besides Solicitor Almon, was Hon. R.
Erle Smith, the well known local attorney who scored victory after victory with seeming little effort other than the wielding of his efficient skill and ability as a lawyer.WILSON TO APPEAL

Labor Troubles.(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 24.—Presi-

today.If the President takes such action it is understood that it will be a telegraphic appeal to all mine lead-today to an appeal from Gov. Goodin the absence of congress.FEDERAL ACTION (International News Service.)

CHICAGO, July 24.—Face to face with the probability that within the next 48 hours practically every shipping coal mine in Illinois will be tightly closed and with coal famine affecting the country in prospect, Illinois coal operators today are insistent in their demands that the U. S. Government take a decisive stand on the situation. Illinois officials today expressed surprise at the dispatch of federal conciliators to the strike zone.ALL MINES CLOSED (International News Service.)
SPRINGFIELD, July 24.—Coal miners throughout Illinois today were leaving the mines idle in a determined effort to obtain higher wages. Reports received at state headquarters of the miner's union indicate that approximately every mine in the state is closed.The new schedule of charges for ice that he would approve a declaration judgment of republicans here an ex-

MANY SECTIONS OF ALABAMA TODAY TO PLAN WEEVIL FIGHTCotton Pest Last Year Not So General as This, Commissioner Says.TWO METHODS TO END WEEVIL'S WORK TOLDAllgood Takes Up Discussion of Situation in General Farm Letter.Meetings today are being held in many sections of Alabama to make plans to fight the boll weevil in answer to a public request made by Commissioner of Agriculture M. C. Allgood. The two methods of weevil extermination are discussed by Commissioner Allgood in the following letter:Last year Alabama farmers made 712,000 bales of cotton which brought approximately $150,000,000. Boll weevil infestation was not as general last year as this, however the damage was very severe in certain sections. This year the weevils have appeared earlier and in greater numbers than heretofore and the infested region extends further north so opportunity for greater damage is given. Therefore, it behooves us to do everything we can to save our cotton crop.There are two methods of weevil control. One is to poison by calcium arsenate which is applied with dusting machines. The other method is to pick the weevils and to continue to pick the yellow squares and bolls as they appear on the cotton and as they are found in the rows. Hundreds of farmers will not buy poisons, dusting machines, etc. Many farmers cannot get hands to pick weevils in squares. However, I wish to make an appeal to the farmers of this state to organize to fight the weevil so that we may have cotton this fall.I would like to see meetings held in every school where there is boll weevil infestation in the state at 2 o'clock Saturday, July 24th, to which meeting everyone in the community is invited.
I would suggest that the local school trustees, justices of the peace, merchants, school teachers and preachers assist in notifying the people of this meeting and aid in organizing the community as a whole to take up this work.If we can only add one-tenth to our cotton crop, it will mean that we will have fifteen million dollars more with which to buy the necessities of life, educate the youth of the land and help drive the wolf from the door.

"A. A. Tieturn," a Chicago woman.
Detroit police, baffled at every turn mysterious trunk murder. The girl was found in the trunk, sliced by a

SUPREME TEST FOR AMERICAN EFFICIENCY

With the challenger, Shamrock IV, and the defender, Resolute, each credited with two victories, the final test of American supremacy in the building and sailing of racing yachts will come Monday. Because of the international phase of the affair and the sportsmanship so far displayed, the race will be of interest even to the casual newspaper reader. It will be more than interesting to the partisan.

There is no doubt but that the American people will be pleased at the success of either yacht. The galantry displayed by Sir Thomas Lipton, the Irish baron, who has three times previously, in 1899, 1901, and 1903, tried to take back to England the cup which the American won in 1851, has endeared him to the red blooded people of this republic. Sir Thomas is as good a loser as ever went to sea. He deserves to win.

Something of the conditions under which the cup was originally won, the effect its winning had on the life of yachting in the United States and the handicap under which the challenger labors is told in an interesting and authoritative article in the London Times, which is quoted as follows:

The New York Yacht Club in the year 1851 was a very small private affair. Yachting had not taken hold of the American people as a national sport. At that time there were only about 14 yachts of any size in the New York Yacht Club. There was a great big sloop called the Maria which was immensely fast. She had hollow spars, cotton sails, and a centre-board, but she nearly capsized in a gale of wind. Then a few members of the club built a schooner called the America on the lines of one of their pilot boats, and rigged her with flat cotton sails laced to their booms, not baggy, loose-footed sails like our English sails; and in 1851 this vessel came over to Cowes and took part in a race at the Royal Yacht Squadron there against all our best English yachts. The course was round the Isle of Wight. The Cup which was the prize in the race was given by the Royal Yacht Squadron and was open to all competitors.

The owners of the schooner returned to New York with the Cup they had won. They made it a Challenge Cup in the custody of their club, the New York Yacht Club, for the world to come across the ocean and race for it if wished. Many times has it been challenged for since, but it has never been won. Nobody has ever won a single race or a heat of a race in attempting to win it except upon one occasion when an American yacht had an accident, and that cannot be counted.

The effect of winning this trophy was remarkable. It seemed to stimulate enthusiasm in yachting in the United States to an extraordinary extent. Nobody in 1851 could have had the smallest idea of its far-reaching extent. Yachting became—of course gradually, but still surely—in America a national sport and pastime. The New York Yacht Club became a national institution. There is no club or body or organization in England or any other country which has any resemblance to the New York Yacht Club.

The Americans built three yachts to defend the Cup on this occasion in 1914—the race was, of course, postponed owing to the war; these were Resolute, by Herreshoff; Vanite, by Gardner; and Defiance, by Owen. The last-named was not a success and was broken up. Sir Thomas Lipton built only one yacht to challenge for the Cup—namely, Shamrock IV, and as the challengers are bound by the conditions of the Cup to name the challenger ten months before the race it follows that trial yachts cannot be built to test her and have a chance of selection to sail for the Cup if they beat her. The Americans, on the other hand, reserve the right of postponing the selection of their defender until one week before the race. This peculiar condition, which insists upon ten months' notice for the challenger and allows but one week for the defender, is regarded by British yachtsmen as sufficiently one-sided to militate strongly in favour of the Americans.

AMUSEMENTS

PRINCESS TODAY

Eugene O'Brien, star of many a romance, is the leading character in a photodrama of politics—a selkiz Picture entitled "The Figurehead." He depicts the part of a wealthy, well-bred young idler who accepts a nomination for Mayor of his city as a lark, but goes into the campaign in earnest after being transformed by the fire of a great love. This does not please the bosses, as they had picked him as a "figurehead" candidate who would be easily defeated by the "machine" opponent, as arranged for in a secret deal between rival bosses.

They "frame up" a scandal on him, which only arouses his fighting ire to the extent of a great combat. "The Figurehead" is spectacularly staged, with about four hundred persons in the company and a supporting cast including Anna Q. Nilsson, Joseph Girard, Frances Parks and Kate Price, Robert Ellis directed the production.

Cement-Coated Nails

Approximately one-fourth of the wire nails manufactured are now cement coated; according to H. A. Knight, who writes on the subject in the Iron Age (New York). The nails are coated by shaking them up in a hot tumbling barrel with a compound consisting mainly of resin, from which they issue with a thin, tough coating which greatly increases their holding power. The friction of the driven nail with the wood melts the cement and forms a glue, which makes fast the nail.—Literary Digest.

The SINCLAIR LAW of LUBRICATION

FOR EVERY MACHINE, of EVERY DEGREE of WEAR there is a SCIENTIFIC SINCLAIR OIL to SUIT its SPEED AND CONSERVE its POWER.

THE degree your motor is worn determines which grade of Sinclair Motor Oil you should use.

New motors have snug-fitting parts.

After traveling a few thousand miles, the parts loosen up.

After 15,000 miles, the parts are somewhat worn, and a heavier Sinclair Motor Oil must be used to fill the gaps caused by wear.

Each heavier Sinclair Motor Oil (as applied by the Sinclair Index) improves compression; less of it will work up into the combustion chamber to form carbon; and it will largely prevent gasoline working down to destroy the lubricant.

The Law of Lubrication is applied to the present condition of your particular car in the Sinclair Recommendation Index. Ask the nearest Sinclair Dealer for a copy.

American Cigarettes Popular.

WAS EASY TO SEE THE GREAT CHANGE

Had been troubled with her kidneys, bladder, and general female weakness for five years.

The new root and herb juice remedy, Drecto, relieved her troubles completely.

"For the past five years I have been in a very bad condition from a bladder and kidney trouble, and a general breakdown from female weakness, and only those who have suffered as I did can understand what I have endured," writes that well known lady Mr. G. S. Elliot of 5 Gilbert Street, Mobile, Ala.

"My troubles were of long standing, and I had been treated by two good doctors, and had taken many different remedies, but none ever did me much good. I often had severe attacks of vertigo. My food soured in my stomach, causing great distress and pains, and gas filled me up. I had awful backache and my limbs ached something dreadful. I was daily constipated; my nerves were on edge all the time, and my sleep was very broken and failed to refresh me."

I have taken two bottles of Drecto, and feel like a different person. My liver is active so that I have no more vertigo or dizzy spells. My bowels move regularly every day, without having to take something for them. The pain in my back and limbs is all gone now, and I sleep like a baby. Publish my letter for it may help someone else."

All druggists now sell Drecto and it is being especially introduced in Albany by the Albany Drug Co.; in Decatur by the Hilda Drug Co.—Adv.

MORE LIKE THEMSELVES THAN ENGLAND EXPECTED

Doug Says "I Know I Married the World's Sweetheart, but Goodness, I Didn't Think the World Would Go on the Honeymoon."

MARY PICKFORD

By EARL C. REEVES,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, July 23.—Mary and Doug were more like Mary and Doug than anybody expected.

That seems to be England's verdict. During their whirlwind visit to England a lot of people ranked with the gentleman of poetic fame who went to scoff and remained to pray. Except when they escaped to the country, "Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks" fairly stumbled over reporters and photographers at every turn, and they were forced finally to move quickly and secretly if they were to see any of the England they had come to see.

During their visit Theda Bara, the best-known vamp, was among the distinguished visitors. Her sister engaged herself to an American correspondent following a whirlwind courtship. Even then, Theda managed to hit the Sunday papers only—that is, with any real display of type.

Colonel House gumshoed into town and despite the fact that some national conventions back home made his visit a deep and silent mystery, the Colonel managed only to land in the newspapers to the extent of a few briefs on inside pages.

There were a few more or less notable sportsmen from across the Atlantic among us, such men as Tilden, Johnstone, Hagen and the like. Of course, they landed page one now and then, but for the most part the sport page held them.

But the "world's sweetheart," to quote the London press, and the man who married her, and who has other claims to fame as well—they stumbled over reporters at every turn. It was that kind of a reception. They didn't exactly go out of their way to prevent folks being enthusiastic, to be sure, but the tremendous interest displayed in them wasn't the result of press agenting.

Several more or less prominent-in-England "pournalists" went into the "presence" without the proper spirit of awe due to the royalty of movie-land. They admitted as much when they came away. They wrote as much when they told the stories of their interviews. They didn't expect to find Mary as pretty and sweet as they'd seen her on the film, they admitted. And they didn't expect to find Doug such an irrepressible regular fellow as he's painted by the camera-men.

Then they saw and listened and told the British public that the pair were more like themselves than anyone could believe possible.

"Mary had a little jam," was one playful headline over the story of the mobbing of the famous visitor at the theatrical garden party.

Another English journalist told how Doug sought quiet and seclusion by straddling the balustrade on a balcony at the Ritz. And how the pair of them sought to escape recognition at the horse show by wearing the clothes they'd been photographed in the day before.

There was an ironic note now and then in the accounts of the Pickford and Fairbanks visit. But these notes were wasted. The great General Public was interested to the point of fighting its way forward to see them in real instead of reel-life.

The women who fought for autographs didn't care whether the Fairbanks family were seeking a quiet honeymoon by walking out into the glare of the spotlight. They only hoped that the film idols would keep it up.

They kept it up, apparently, as long as they could. Then they escaped to the quiet of the country. Lord Northcliffe, publisher and cabinet-maker, first gave them safe haven. Then the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland.

Dozens of columns of quotes from Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks were printed during their short visit, but the one that seemed to hit off their situation the best was voiced by Fairbanks.

"I know I'd married the world's sweetheart," he said, "but I didn't know I was going on a honeymoon with the whole world."

HITS AND MISSES

By HARRETT SHELTON

At last the race has started right side up from the Yank viewpoint. Many weeks ago the Indians romped on the Yanks for a series in Cleveland. The sport world was amazed at the probability of a team with such a number of circuit smashers going down in defeat before the aggregation made up entirely of hunters for free transportation to the first station and of members who hit steadily but didn't put the pill far enough to have any effect when it came to denting the rubber. This time the tables, worms and the hang-ers on took a turn and the men of Gotham in the American who have been trailing the Indians so closely for a number of weeks lit out in front. Via the four ply crack route. This is the third game between the two and the New Yorkers still have a clean slate for their stay in the Polo Grounds. The first of the three went to the leaders by a 4-3 figure when Rip Collins took up the boxmanship, replacing Carl Mays. Rip also fared well in the second fray, coming through with a 11 mark and the best the Cleveland outfit could do was to score another trio. Shawkey was yesterday's hero along with Babe and Pechinpaugh. The Yank choice, for the box, held the Indian hopes safe while the Yank bludgeons were plied right lustily. Babe got his thirty-third and Pechinpaugh cleared the wall his third time in the series. The finals went 6-3.

The Irish sports must be the best in the world when they think they can beat an American boat in a straight heat or any other way except through mishap. The first yacht race went the Irish way when the American defender couldn't stand the gale. The second also went ditto the first. But the third was easy for the U. S. A. Well the fourth showed that the Liptonites had acute indigestion over their victories and the count is tied. All honors are even with the last to be run today. Should the Britisher win today the cup will go to the Irish coast and likely stir up a revolution on the plea that some of the crew were Ulsterites and the others are some other of the famous sides fighters in the Emerald Isle.

The songs of Africa engaged in the national sport at the Y. M. C. A. grounds yesterday afternoon and of all the great games there it was. The Wolcott minstrels were in town and to rouse interest they engaged the "Little sticks of Ebony" from "Deep Vine". Well as it was expected the game wound up in a scrap. Both teams were playing excellent ball when the storm broke and the game went to the Vine street representatives.

The Decatur outfit got a 9-0 decision. To get an idea of what was there here's the dope.

Suffering Described As Torture Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

I sent and bought Theodor's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Theodor's Black-Draught."

Theodor's Black-Draught will help you to keep fit, ready for the day's work. Try it!

ARMY IS SCHOOL FOR YOUNG MEN

GOOD EDUCATION OFFERED RECRUITS. FIVE ENLISTMENTS ARE ACCEPTED HERE

Up to a few months ago the United States Army would not accept illiterates as recruits. It wanted men who had some measure of education. And then the War Department awakened to the fact that at the same time the army was being maintained young men could be moulded into first-class citizens with a practical education; so that when their enlistment was over they could go into civil life equipped with an education, with training in a trade, and with money ahead as capital—all result of their service with the colors.

Col. George C. Saffarans, in charge of the recruiting work in Alabama, is very greatly pleased with the results thus far obtained, and the week of the Rainbow Division Reunion had exhibits about the Recruiting Headquarters in Birmingham three men who only a short time ago could not read nor write. They were sent to Camp Peyton, New York, to the Army School, and there taught, and have made fine progress in their studies. From being slouchy, slovenly, ignorant, unambitious boys, they are as fine specimens of upstanding, live-wire young Americans as one could find in a day's journey.

The incident is typical of the work the army is doing; it is becoming a great university and training school for civil life. Employers eagerly grab the qualified discharged men, for they know these men have been taught the value of organization, of orderly procedure and of discipline. An honorable discharge from the United States Army now is one of the best recommendations a young fellow can have. And in addition, if he comes out with a specialized knowledge of some well paid trade as is his opportunity without cost to him, he has a mighty fine equipment with which to start life. The enlistments of Alabama young men are growing steadily as knowledge of the army advantages spreads about. It is going to return to Alabama some very fine citizens in exchange for some crude material in the way of young men who, at the time of their enlistment, were not much account to themselves or to the State. It is a wonderful transformation.

WOULD YOU BE A FARMER?

The present generation farmer is really the only personage who can take a defiant attitude toward the rest of the world.

A decade ago the farmer was looked on with a degree of pity and scorn, but conditions have changed; today he is acknowledged KING. And with all his prosperity he is that same self respecting citizen—devoid of the ego and arrogance that the same degree of prosperity is apt to create in men in other walks of life. With the gas tractor to break his land, the motor cultivator to cultivate his crop, the gas engine to draw his water, saw his wood and grind his feed—the gas buggy to take him to town—with cotton selling at 43 cents with the near prospects of 60 cents, corn selling at $2.50 per bushel, irish potatoes at $5.00 per bushel, sorghum at $1.75 the gallon, onions at $7.00 the bushel, green apples 75 cents per peck, good cider vinegar at $1.50 per gallon, good hay at $50.00 to $60.00 the ton, cotton seed at $75.00 per ton and all other farm products in proportion, it looks like Mr. Farmer was up to his ears in "Clover."

But his best inning is yet to come! Now guess why, where and when! Well farm lands in the northern and western States that are not producing a third as much per acre in money crops as the Tennessee Valley lands are producing, are selling at from $250.00 to $1100.00 per acre. What makes them bring more? Roads, that's it! Alabama has on a campaign of road construction that will extend over a period of three to five years. When the road system begins to take shape, the present price of farm lands will look like 15c. But then a great many people will not be able to invest, even though the land be worth the money—So now is the opportune time to buy farm land. Remember our prediction and give us credit for it when it has proven out.

We have prices on different farms that will maintain for 30, 60 and 90 days. We are going to advertise one farm each week in this paper until the season closes which will be near the end of the year. If you don't see the farm advertised that suits you, come in and look over our list.
